MEDIA ADVISORY

GLHN ARCHITECTS & ENGINEERS LAUNCHES AN ALL-NEW VISUAL IDENTITY

49 YEAR OLD TUCSON FIRM UPDATES ITS LOOK TO REFLECT TECHNOLOGICAL ADVANCES AND HIGHLIGHT INTEGRATED SERVICES

What: GLHN Architects & Engineers, Inc. has launched a dynamic new look that embodies the firm's strength as a total design entity, providing integrated professional services in architecture and mechanical, electrical, civil, and technology engineering. GLHN's new logo is a window into a kaleidoscope, revealing the intricate beauty and complexity of collaborating disciplines.

GLHN Graphic Artist, Beth Adriaanse, designed the new look to address the challenge of representing several diverse disciplines with one logo. The window logo is an ideal solution because it is all-inclusive and dynamic. It provides for endless adaptations in multi-media venues and opportunities for reinvention, keeping the look fresh and current.

When: GLHN will make the switch on April 2, 2012.

Why: GLHN's new identity reflects important corporate developments in recent years—a move to employee ownership, transition to a new generation of leaders, enhanced services and technological innovations—all of which work together to ensure the success of the firm's clients and their projects. As GLHN approaches a half century of service, the company is fully committed to the use of Building Information Modeling, the integration of LEED principles, energy modeling, master planning, and commissioning.

Where: Visit GLHN online at www.glhn.com to see the new logo in action, view the firm's portfolio, and learn more about recent developments at the firm.
